

citizens thinkers writers

reflecting on civic life

"The unexamined life is not worth living."

- Socrates

Interested in exploring big questions in a college setting?

Join a long-running philosophical conversation on citizenship stretching from ancient Greece to twenty-first-century New Haven...

Who?

Current juniors who love to read and discuss big questions

Aspiring college students from New Haven public schools

What?

A tuition-free two-week residential program at Yale, followed by a year-long fellowship program with monthly meetings

Small seminars with professors and undergraduate & graduate mentors

A chance to explore great books and the questions they raise

When?

Residential Program: July 12, 2020 – July 24, 2020

Fellowship Program: September 2020 – May 2021

Program Dates

July 12, 2020 to July 24, 2020

Yale University

Humanities Program

Application Deadline

March 2, 2020

For more information, please visit

humanities.yale.edu/ctw